County Board Workshop—February 9th - 11th

Issues that affect all 93 Nebraska counties will be discussed at the 2011 County Board Workshop, to be held February 9-11 at the Holiday Inn & Convention Center in Kearney. Presenters will cover topics that have a current and future impact on our counties statewide. Board members will also get the chance to discuss their ideas for current and future legislation and have an open discussion with Executive Director Larry Dix.

Our goal is to have representation from all 93 counties. So far, County Board members from 78 counties across the state have registered. View the agenda and register for the 2011 County Board Workshop. The registration fee is $80 if completed online today. After today, the registration fee increases to $90.

Communities Working Together for Lasting Solutions: Increasing Civic Understanding
Wednesday, February 2, 2011
1:00 PM - 2:15 PM CST

Increasing the understanding of what county government does and how community members benefit from county services is the first step in building a trusting relationship within your county. This session builds on President Glen Whitley’s initiative, “County Government Works.” With NACo Tabor Fellow from Kansas State University Research and Extension, Trudy Rice, participants will explore tools they can use to forge better connections with individuals and groups. Join the webinar to see how this interactive process builds positive relationships. This is a NACo member only webinar.

Building Sustainable Communities with Green Building Codes
Thursday, February 3, 2011
1:00 PM - 2:15 PM CST

Since the release of the International Green Construction Code (IGCC) last year, several counties see the promise of applying the Code to enhance sustainable development in their communities. This webinar is suggested as an introduction and discussion for County Executives and Administrators, Urban Planners, Zoning Professionals, and County Sustainability Staff on the application of the IGCC. Join this webinar to see how you can use this tool to enhance sustainable development in your county. Click here to register.

Communities Working Together for Lasting Solutions: Increasing Public Participation
Wednesday, February 9, 2011
1:00 PM - 2:15 PM CST

How communities work together to make decisions matters. Engaged community members become more supportive and positive about leadership decisions that affect their lives when they’re part of productive interactions that are open and civil. NACo Tabor Fellow from Kansas State University Research and Extension, Trudy Rice, will demonstrate tools you can use to tackle problems and nurture relationships using a well thought-out process for educating and engaging the public. This is a NACo member only webinar.

Communities Working Together for Lasting Solutions: Building Effective Leadership
Wednesday, February 16, 2011
1:00 PM - 2:15 PM CST

Effective county leadership reflects the demographic, economic, social and political changes in your community. To respond successfully to these changes, your community leadership needs to represent everyone. Join Trudy Rice, NACo Tabor Fellow from Kansas State University Research and Extension, to explore ways you can diversify your leadership base, as you prepare new leaders for future responsibilities. This is a NACo member only webinar.
